Two items to discuss.

Narcotics Projects and Activities:

●

- The Panel on the Use of Classified Intelligence Information by Drug Enforcement Agencies met on Friday, November 18, and the law enforcement representatives were in attendance for the first time, it appears that they will serve as active members. This included DEA, Customs, Coast Guard, and Justice. The meeting centered around those security concerns which the Intelligence Community members have raised. Based on this meeting and recommendations from the law enforcement agency representatives, a paper reflecting all concerns and recommendations to date will be prepared for discussion at the next meeting of the entire Panel planned for Friday, December 2.

China Working Group:

- The full working group held its fourth meeting on 22 November. Both the [redacted] sub-groups reported encouraging progress, with no appreciable difficulties so far encountered. Both groups have met independently, have assembled the necessary expertise, and delegated drafting responsibilities. Both anticipate submitting initial written drafts for working group review prior to the holidays (ahead of schedule--the proof of the pudding will, of course, be in the quality of these contributions).

CBW Intelligence Capabilities: [ ]

- [ ] met with [ ] Chairman of the DCI's CBW "Use" working group (responsible for a recent NIE on Soviet use of CBW in Asia) and [ ] HUMINT Committee staff to discuss the CIPC's potential to contribute toward resolving intelligence problems in the chemical, biological, and toxin warfare sphere. [ ] enthusiastically endorsed the recent CIPC staff paper drafted on this subject. He, as had [ ] earlier, strongly supported using the paper, accompanied by terms of reference, to propose to CIPC principals that a working group be formed to pursue a comprehensive, systematic analysis for enhancing fundamental intelligence capabilities against the foreign CBW problems. Refinement of the staff paper and the initial draft TOR is underway.
- Several conversations were also held with [ ] concerning the shared interest of CIPC and STAP in CBW matters and how best to pursue those interests in a coordinated, hopefully synergistic manner. We have outlined for [ ] the concept the CIPC expects to present to the Committee principals, and [ ] proposed he include a reference to the status of this project in STAP's proposed tasking memorandum to the DCI. East Germany: Intelligence Information Needs:

- [ ] continued her meetings with various intelligence and policy officials. Recently she has met with officers from DDI/CRES, OSD/ISA, and DIA/DC-3. Findings from these meetings include:
  - DDI/CRES - There are few requirements on East Germany (and for most of Eastern Europe) that are not military requirements. Among the reasons for the lack of requirements are:
    - * The present EUR/A analysts tend to have a current-intelligence orientation and thus do not "think" requirements.
    - * The political and economic analysts tend to work through State and DDO rather than CRES.
  - OSD/ISA - There is no interest in East Germany from a policy perspective. The DoD "problem" regarding the DDR is its military capabilities, not policy concerns. There is little DoD policy interest in Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria; they are viewed as inflexible, rigid, and generally "unexploitable" in the policy sense.
    - * The main areas of DoD policy concern in Eastern Europe are Poland and Bulgaria.
